

Summer 2015 – Greetings from Gayfield

Dear Friends,

Greetings from sunny, vibrant Scotland and Edinburgh's Gayfield Creative Spaces.

We've had a busy 6 months collaborating with some true talent - you can check out our Twitter feed and browse through our events pages for a look at what we've been up to.

With this update we're delighted to present our Gayfield Talks about Design generously supported by Creative Scotland. It was an honour to host such an array of design champions and hear first hand some inspiring stories.

Our key themes find focus in two exhibitions coming up this month - join us for 'Not All Glitter and Freud' with Queen Margaret University and for the 'Retina Scottish International Photography Festival', part of a major series of photography interventions in Edinburgh this year.

I hope you find something to engage and inspire

Very best

John
